

Organization: FFA

Sponsor: Justin Kennedy

Purpose: FFA makes a positive difference in the lives of students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth, and career success through agricultural education.

Byng FFA is an organization centered on student growth, through a variety of instructional methods. The courses are structured as three circle model including classroom and laboratory, supervised agricultural experiences, and FFA leadership. This organization offers many opportunities for the students to grow and prosper in an agricultural and a real world setting. This organization allows students a chance to become involved in public speaking, career development events (judging contest), exhibiting of livestock and horticulture entries, and leadership activities. The FFA is the largest and most active student organization in the United States.
